Past Present

You deepened the light
where you wept lost summer away. Presently,

in sparser leaves,
the silver death.

The memory of your hair
in a window's amber breath.